

University Studies in Vienna, Austria?

Have you always dreamed of studying in the heart of Europe but never dared to believe that it can become reality? Maybe this Christmas is the time to make a life-changing decision. In this edition we are going to tell you the story of Rachel from Mexico and how she managed to get her German fit to fulfil all the entry requirements of the University of Vienna to start pursuing her dream career as an architect for sustainable buildings.

Those of you that live outside of Europe may not be familiar with the CEFR. The CEFR is a language framework describing what language learners have to learn in order to use a language for communication in certain situations. While A levels describe basic users, B are for independent users and C levels refer to proficient expert users of the German language. Read on to find out how INNES Institute

In order to be accepted to an Austrian university and study in German, Raquel needed to pass the ÖSD C1 level exam. ÖSD is the official certification system and the equivalent to TOEFL or IELTS in the German-speaking world.

Raquel chose the INNES University Language Preparation Program, because it includes everything she needed to pass the C1 exam: 6 Intensive German Courses, 30 minutes personal tutorial every week, exam preparation, the actual exam, all coursebooks and materials, conversation classes as well as all the personal support she needed to navigate Vienna life. What she found particularly useful are “the flexible starting times of the program”.
