International Student Guide:

All relevant information about studying in St. Pölten (e.g. also about accommodation) can be found in our International Student Guide. You can find general information on living and studying in Austria here.

International Modules:

The principal language of instruction at the university is German. However, the following semester modules have been specifically designed to meet the needs of international students and are taught entirely in English. Each module comprises a minimum of 30 ECTS. If you select a semester program taught in English, you will be studying in a multicultural classroom, with international students and degree-seeking students from Austria. The modules are not complete yet and are subject to changes until the beginning of the semester.

Courses in German:

Students with German language skills of level B1 minimum are allowed to attend German-taught courses. Please contact me for further information, as there are different regulations in each degree programme.

German Preparation Course:

A German preparation course is offered starting at the end of August which comprises 60 course units and is recommended for students who wish to study in German. The course is for advanced learners with at least level of A2.

German language classes and Austrian Culture:

During the semester the course 'German language and Austrian culture' (no participation fee, 4 teaching units per week, 6 ECTS points per semester, 2 levels: beginners and advanced) will be offered.

Orientation days for international students:

From September 2020 the orientation days for international students take place. All international students are asked to attend the Orientation days reliably as you will receive important information for your stay in St. Pölten. You will receive the exact dates of the Orientation Week after with your acceptance at the End of May.
